Delegates from China visited Engineering's Architecture Division to compare notes about green initiatives.

■ Delegation from Beijing visits Engineering to gain insight into green building program.

PUBLIC WORKS — Principal Architect Mahmood Karimzadeh, of the Bureau of Engineering's Architectural Division, Public Works, recently briefed a six-member delegation from Beijing, China, on the City's Green Building Program. The two-hour presentation included an overview of sustainable design used in public buildings and facilities, current projects and a case study of the design for the new City Hall Building in Council District Nine. As part of an international information exchange, the delegation represented a Commission of the Beijing State Council. Participants were Zhang Kelin, Director; Ma Chinagqi, and Deputy Director; Liu Ming, Housing Infrastructure Department, Division Chief; Deputy Director Tang Yongli, Xing Lufeng, Deputy Division Chief; and Hua Daqing, Human Resources Department, Division Chief, also attended. The Board of Public Works Public Affairs Office coordinated this meeting with the Bureau of Engineering and the Sino-Canada Technology Exchange Centre in Toronto, Canada.
