■ Officers hold torch relay for slain SWAT Officer Randal Simmons.

POLICE DEPT. — At the 23rd annual L.A. Marathon March 2, some 30 SWAT and Metro Police Officers had a torch relay in honor of their slain fellow officer Randal Simmons.

SWAT Officer Simmons was fatally shot on duty while trying to control a violent domestic dispute in February.

The last 1.5 miles of the marathon, Matt Simmons, the son of Officer Simmons, carried the torch.

After the marathon, the group was joined by SWAT Officer James Veenstra, who was shot and injured in the same incident that killed Officer Simmons.

Congratulations to this group of officers for their touching tribute to their slain brother. And thanks to Gary Sunkin for sending in the story and photos.
