Director,
Griffith Observatory

At the Hoba meteorite, the world's largest, in Namibia.

On the tropic of Capricorn, Namibia.

"I am finally sending a few images from last October's trip to England and Namibia. The return to England was prompted by a conference in Bristol, 'Heavenly Discourses,' at which I presented the closing lecture, a talk called 'Into the Blue.' The trip gave me a chance to visit Stonehenge, Avebury, and other sites to which I had not been back for a couple of decades. New and important work at Stonehenge persuaded me I should have a look around again, and I had after-hours access. Most of the interesting new work is in areas around Stonehenge.

"From England, I continued to Namibia, in southwest Africa, to catch up with a Friends of the Observatory tour of southern skies and African wonders, including the world's largest meteorite, prehistoric rock art, wild animals, giant sand dunes, and more.

"Happy perihelion passage."

– Dr. Ed Krupp, Director, Griffith Observatory

The Caribbean

"Here is a picture of me somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean during my eastern Caribbean cruise right after Thanksgiving."

– Rodney Bernaldo, Public Works

Take the Club with you, wherever you go!

Club members are a well-traveled bunch. Bring your recent copy of Alive! with you. Snap a high resolution photo with you holding a copy, send it in, and we'll publish it. Send to: talkback@cityemployeesclub.com

Sending Digital Photos:

When you send digital photos through the Internet, please send the full, original digital file yourself, rather than using digital photo software like Kodak EasyShare, Kodak Gallery, Flickr, etc. These programs send very low-resolution images, and they don't look good in print. We want you to look your best, so send us the original digital file, please! Thanks!
