Bike Gone, Bike Given

A bike shop responds to a recent "People We See" story, turning sad news to glad.

Today, thanks to the generosity of a Granada Hills bike shop, there is more happiness on the streets of Los Angeles.

As we reported in our "People We See" column from June, Thomas Mazzone reported that his bike had been stolen. In the June issue, we asked for the help of anyone who could donate to Thomas either bike parts or another bike.

Jose and Quennie Chavez of Joseph's Bikes and Books (17523 Chatsworth St., Granada Hills, CA 91344) in Granada Hills responded by donating a bike to Thomas.

This proves once again that great things can happen when people listen to their hearts and act accordingly.

Huge thanks to Jose and Quennie for their generosity. They made someone very happy.
